Outsource your elearning technology

A subscription to aegility gives you instant access to best practice elearning technology. You pay on a per head basis. Nothing to purchase. No upgrade costs ever!

Aegility is a hosted, Web-based application that enables your organisation to train personnel, or clients without the complexities and heavy investment in installed technology. Your subscription enables you to pay on a per head per annum basis.

A password gives authorised users anytime, anywhere access to a secure private virtual elearning space in which you can to build and deploy, track, measure and asses training globally

Our clients are:

- companies and organisations that wish to train their personnel cost-effectively anywhere anytime
- established trainers who wish to use blended learning in order to effectively measure the uptake of the learning with pre-seminar briefing and testing,
- after-sales training to channel markets
- business associations who run industry certification programmes and wish to add value to their members' benefits
- Private schools and colleges

Key Point:

A subscription with aegility enables you to be training anywhere anytime in just weeks! No need to purchase elearning technology – 'train more faster, with less!'

Fast and furious pace

The pace at which new technologies are being developed, coupled with the need to stay competitive, will drive the next decade of change. Many 'much heralded' IT solutions will have short shelf lives as technology, yet to be discovered, will overtake them.

Will you be at risk? Read the case history of how a leading brand avoided the technology wars on our website – www.aegility.com
